Ricavision International Inc. Introducing the MK140
eChatter for Windows Vista-based PCs

Thumb Keyboard Enhances Functional Capability of Wireless Handheld Chatting with Windows Vista

Newport Beach, California, May 15th, 2007 — Ricavision International Inc.
today announced the new MK140 eChatter, a small handheld portable device wirelessly connected to a PC running Windows Vista that functions as a normal enhanced Windows SideShow device. With the MK140 eChatter, the user, by means of a QWERTY-layout thumb keyboard, can compose responses to emails and instant messages read on the 5.0" WQVGA LCD display. The device can also be used as an audio headset for voice communications.

“With the range of capabilities opened up by Windows Vista, we can create even more devices to enhance users’ Windows Vista experience,” said Alicia Mellor, VP of Sales. “By coordinating with Microsoft, we feel confident that our new MK140 eChatter will provide Windows Vista users with enhanced functionality and significant value.”

The MK140 eChatter has an internal battery, with a 16-hour minimum lifetime in normal use, as well as an external AC adapter/charger through a mini-USB. Small and lightweight, sleek and handsome, the MK140 eChatter can be conveniently toted around for maximum connectivity.
