

Monday, December 31, 2007 - Page updated at 12:00 AM

GABRIEL BOUYS / AFP/GETTY IMAGES

A popular keynote speaker at industry conferences, Microsoft Chairman Bill Gates will again kick off the CES show Sunday.

Visions of Gates' keynote swan song

By Brier Dudley

Seattle Times technology columnist

To highlight Windows Vista, Gates will probably at least mention a new remote control from Ricavision that finally takes advantage of Vista's "Sideshow" software. The $349 "Vave" remote going on sale in early 2008 displays the Vista Media Center menu on a color display, so you can remotely select and play music and video stored on the PC.